

UK sends automated turrets and missiles to shoot down Russian drones, as part of £600 million air defence package for Ukraine

The UK has committed £600 million in air-defence capabilities, including cutting edge turrets that can shoot down Russian drones to support Ukraine through the winter.