

UK Space Agency offers young people launchpad to space career with new internship programme

The UK Space Agency is launching Skills for Space, a new internship programme offering 50 paid placements across the UK space sector to give young people hands-on experience and industry exposure.