

UK support is huge step forward for international fishing safety

The UK Government is proud to be backing the first global agreement on fishing safety.