

UK takes command of multinational force for Ukraine

A senior British officer has today taken command of the multinational force which would deploy to Ukraine after hostilities end.