

UK targets Putin's inner circle with new sanctions

New British sanctions target high profile figures working in the Russian Government and supporters of Russian state-owned business.