

UK to set end date for imports of Russian diesel and jet fuel via third countries

The Government has today confirmed the timeline for phasing in its ban on imports of refined oil derived from Russia, as part of the recently announced package of sanctions to further squeeze Putin's war machine.