

UK unleashes first dogs trained to detect synthetic opioids

Border Force becomes the first agency in the world to use specially trained dogs to detect both deadly fentanyl and nitazenes.