

Greens to stand in 574 seats in England and Wales

2. Press Releases

Carla Denyer, co-leader of the Green Party, said:

“The Green Party is proud to announce that in this election we will have candidates standing in 574 seats in England and Wales.

“All over the country voters will have the opportunity to vote Green and vote for real hope and real change instead of the half measures and broken pledges on offer from The Conservative and Labour.

“We will be putting our manifesto to voters next week with practical solutions to the cost-of-living crisis, building new affordable homes, protecting our NHS from creeping privatisation and cleaning up our toxic rivers and seas.

“If elected, Green MPs will push the next government for bold action to achieve the real changes that are needed to confront the big challenges our country faces.

“This is a historic moment and the first time we’ve had this many candidates. It reflects the incredible journey we’ve been on over the past five local elections in which we’ve increased our number of councillors nearly five-fold.”

7 June 2024 / 9 June 2024 by Green Party

Press Releases

Adblock test (Why?)

Boost NHS salaries, guarantee access to NHS dentists, and give free personal care say Greens

6 June 2024

- Green Party previews manifesto with extra spending on health and social care rising to over £50bn per year by 2030
- This sits alongside an additional £20bn capital investment to bring crumbling hospitals, primary care buildings and outdated equipment up to modern standards
- Greens will increase NHS frontline workers' salaries including doctors, dentists and nurses
- "Cast-iron Green guarantee" promise that Green MPs will fight privatisation of the NHS

Green Party Co-Leader, Adrian Ramsay and the party's Health and Social Care Spokesperson, Dr Pallavi Devulapalli, today announced a "game-changing" package for the NHS and social care totally £50 billion a year in investment by 2030 and an additional £20 billion in capital investment to improve crumbling buildings.

Commenting at the launch, Green Co-Leader, Adrian Ramsay said "Today's announcement represents a game changing package that is more than any other political party is offering. It has been fully costed and could be fully delivered."

Mr Ramsay, who described his personal experience in recent months supporting a family member both through hospitals and then into the care system, said that "many people" could see that the NHS was "stretched to breaking point" despite the "commitment of hard-working NHS staff".

Green Party Health and Social Care Spokesperson and practicing GP, Dr Pallavi Devulapalli, reiterated this saying that she had "seen first-hand the impact that chronic underinvestment had on patients" describing long-waiting times for treatments and the impact of living in severe pain unable to work or support loved ones.

Mr Ramsay spoke to the need to "restore dignity both for NHS staff and patients".

The Greens used the announcement to reveal a package of spending pledges alongside a "Green cast iron guarantee" that Green MPs would fight the privatisation of the NHS at every stage. The announcement included a commitment to :

- Invest £20bn in a capital investment to bring our crumbling hospitals and old equipment up to standard.
- Invest £50 billion per year by 2030 into health and social care – more than any other major party – and would use the money to:
- Dramatically reduce waiting lists
- Offer everyone access to an NHS dentist
- Guarantee rapid access to a GP when there is urgent need and dramatically reduce waiting times for all
- Ensure people needing mental health support can access relevant therapies within 28 days
- Invest £5bn per year to boost NHS salaries and keep our wonderful nurses and doctors in the UK
- Invest £20 billion per year into adult social care to ensure dignity for those in need of care and take pressure off the NHS – including introducing free personal care.

- Restore public health budgets with £1.5bn uplift in spending .

The large spending commitments they say is part of a fully costed manifesto due to be released on the 12th June in Brighton that includes commitments to “tax wealth fairly” by introducing a wealth tax of 1% on assets over £10 million and 2% over £1 billion.

Adblock test \(Why?\)

Boost NHS salaries, guarantee access to NHS dentists, and give free personal care say Greens

2. Press Releases

- Green Party previews manifesto with extra spending on health and social care rising to over £50bn per year by 2030
- This sits alongside an additional £20bn capital investment to bring crumbling hospitals, primary care buildings and outdated equipment up to modern standards
- Greens will increase NHS frontline workers’ salaries including doctors, dentists and nurses
- “Cast-iron Green guarantee” promise that Green MPs will fight privatisation of the NHS

Green Party Co-Leader, Adrian Ramsay and the party’s Health and Social Care Spokesperson, Dr Pallavi Devulapalli, today announced a “game-changing” package for the NHS and social care totally £50 billion a year in investment by 2030 and an additional £20 billion in capital investment to improve crumbling buildings.

Commenting at the launch, Green Co-Leader, Adrian Ramsay said “Today’s announcement represents a game changing package that is more than any other political party is offering. It has been fully costed and could be fully delivered.”

Mr Ramsay, who described his personal experience in recent months supporting a family member both through hospitals and then into the care system, said that “many people” could see that the NHS was “stretched to breaking point” despite the “commitment of hard-working NHS staff”.

Green Party Health and Social Care Spokesperson and practicing GP, Dr Pallavi Devulapalli , reiterated this saying that she had “seen first-hand the impact that chronic underinvestment had on patients” describing long-waiting times for treatments and the impact of living in severe pain unable to work or support loved ones.

Mr Ramsay spoke to the need to “restore dignity both for NHS staff and patients”.

The Greens used the announcement to reveal a package of spending pledges alongside a “Green cast iron guarantee” that Green MPs would fight the privatisation of the NHS at every stage. The announcement included a commitment to :

- Invest £20bn in a capital investment to bring our crumbling hospitals and old equipment up to standard.
- Invest £50 billion per year by 2030 into health and social care – more than any other major party – and would use the money to:
- Dramatically reduce waiting lists
- Offer everyone access to an NHS dentist
- Guarantee rapid access to a GP when there is urgent need and dramatically reduce waiting times for all
- Ensure people needing mental health support can access relevant therapies within 28 days
- Invest £5bn per year to boost NHS salaries and keep our wonderful nurses and doctors in the UK
- Invest £20 billion per year into adult social care to ensure dignity for those in need of care and take pressure off the NHS – including introducing free personal care.
- Restore public health budgets with £1.5bn uplift in spending .

The large spending commitments they say is part of a fully costed manifesto due to be released on the 12th June in Brighton that includes commitments to “tax wealth fairly” by introducing a wealth tax of 1% on assets over £10 million and 2% over £1 billion.

6 June 2024 / 9 June 2024 by Green Party

Press Releases

Adblock test (Why?)

Greens offer ‘game-changing’ investment to ‘nurse the NHS back to health'

Key points:

- Green Party previews manifesto with extra spending on health and social care rising to over £50bn per year by 2030
- This sits alongside an additional £20bn capital investment to bring crumbling hospitals, primary care buildings and outdated equipment up to modern standards
- Greens will increase NHS frontline workers' salaries including doctors, dentists and nurses
- Greens offer "cast-iron Green guarantee" that Green MPs will fight privatisation of the NHS

The Green Party will today set out a package worth £30bn per year for the English National Health Service by 2030 – more than any other major political party. The result will see NHS frontline workers' salaries increased, guaranteeing rapid access to a GP and same day access in case of urgent need, and giving everyone access to an NHS dentist. A combined package that they say will restore the dignity of both staff and patients.

The package also includes an additional £20 billion a year commitment to social care to ensure dignity for those in need and to end the pressure on the NHS from a broken care system.

This £50 billion health and social care offer will sit alongside a £20bn capital investment to bring crumbling hospitals and outdated equipment up to modern standards.

Taken together they are part of a cast-iron Green guarantee to a fully funded fully public National Health Service. Green MPs will continue to fight the privatisation of the NHS at every stage – a commitment no other party is making.

Commenting, Green Party Co-Leader Adrian Ramsay said,

"Our NHS is at breaking point following 14 years of underfunding. Patients are stuck in hospital corridors, people can't see their GP or NHS dentist when they need to and staff are severely overstretched.

"Greens believe passionately in the NHS and we are the only party to be honest with the public that it's going to cost money to nurse the NHS back to health after 14 years of Conservative damage.

"Not just by shifting a small pot around, but by asking the very richest in our society to pay a modest amount more in tax to fund the investment we need to nurse the NHS back to health.

"Our plans are credible, deliverable and fully funded.

"With the political will and a fairer, greener tax system we can offer real hope and real change for the NHS we all treasure.

“With more Greens in the next Parliament we will press the new government to take the action needed to restore our NHS.”

The Green Party Co-Leader Carla Denyer added,

“We all know the importance of the NHS.

“But it is only the Greens who are offering a cast-iron guarantee to push back against the creeping privatisation of the NHS.

“In contrast, Wes Streeting, the Shadow Health Secretary, said he would “hold the door wide open” to an increased role for the private sector in our precious NHS.

“Our Green guarantee to protect the NHS from privatisation, combined with today’s announcement, represents a game-changing offer for our National Health Service that will restore the dignity of staff and patients alike.

“It offers real change from the managed decline of recent years and offers real hope to all of us who rely on the NHS.”

Green Party Health, Social Care and Public Health spokesperson and GP, Pallavi Devulapalli added, “I’ve seen first-hand the impact years of underinvestment and managed decline has had on the NHS and the service received by the patients.

“It breaks my heart when patients come into my surgery and I know they won’t get the care they need in a timely manner.

“But it doesn’t have to be like this.

“With the political will we can have an NHS that puts the patient first and ensures world beating quality of care.

“But for this to happen we need the investment and that’s why I am so proud of The Green Party for being honest and brave enough to say not just what needs to happen, but how we can afford to make it happen.

If you want real change and real hope in the NHS there is one party that is offering to make that a reality”

Adblock test \(Why?\)

Greens offer 'game-changing' investment to 'nurse the NHS back to health'

6 June 2024

Key points:

- Green Party previews manifesto with extra spending on health and social care rising to over £50bn per year by 2030
- This sits alongside an additional £20bn capital investment to bring crumbling hospitals, primary care buildings and outdated equipment up to modern standards
- Greens will increase NHS frontline workers' salaries including doctors, dentists and nurses
- Greens offer "cast-iron Green guarantee" that Green MPs will fight privatisation of the NHS

The Green Party will today set out a package worth £30bn per year for the English National Health Service by 2030 – more than any other major political party. The result will see NHS frontline workers' salaries increased, guaranteeing rapid access to a GP and same day access in case of urgent need, and giving everyone access to an NHS dentist. A combined package that they say will restore the dignity of both staff and patients.

The package also includes an additional £20 billion a year commitment to social care to ensure dignity for those in need and to end the pressure on the NHS from a broken care system.

This £50 billion health and social care offer will sit alongside a £20bn capital investment to bring crumbling hospitals and outdated equipment up to modern standards.

Taken together they are part of a cast-iron Green guarantee to a fully funded fully public National Health Service. Green MPs will continue to fight the privatisation of the NHS at every stage – a commitment no other party is making.

Commenting, Green Party Co-Leader Adrian Ramsay said,

"Our NHS is at breaking point following 14 years of underfunding. Patients are stuck in hospital corridors, people can't see their GP or NHS dentist when they need to and staff are severely overstretched.

"Greens believe passionately in the NHS and we are the only party to be honest with the public that it's going to cost money to nurse the NHS back to health after 14 years of Conservative damage.

"Not just by shifting a small pot around, but by asking the very richest in our society to pay a modest amount more in tax to fund the investment we need to nurse the NHS back to health.

"Our plans are credible, deliverable and fully funded.

"With the political will and a fairer, greener tax system we can offer real hope and real change for the NHS we all treasure.

"With more Greens in the next Parliament we will press the new government to take the action needed to restore our NHS."

The Green Party Co-Leader Carla Denyer added,

"We all know the importance of the NHS.

"But it is only the Greens who are offering a cast-iron guarantee to push back against the creeping privatisation of the NHS.

"In contrast, Wes Streeting, the Shadow Health Secretary, said he would "hold the door wide open" to an increased role for the private sector in our precious NHS.

"Our Green guarantee to protect the NHS from privatisation, combined with today's announcement, represents a game-changing offer for our National Health Service that will restore the dignity of staff and patients alike.

"It offers real change from the managed decline of recent years and offers real hope to all of us who rely on the NHS."

Green Party Health, Social Care and Public Health spokesperson and GP, Pallavi Devulapalli added,

"I've seen first-hand the impact years of underinvestment and managed decline has had on the NHS and the service received by the patients.

"It breaks my heart when patients come into my surgery and I know they won't get the care they need in a timely manner.

"But it doesn't have to be like this.

"With the political will we can have an NHS that puts the patient first and ensures world beating quality of care.

"But for this to happen we need the investment and that's why I am so proud of The Green Party for being honest and brave enough to say not just what needs to happen, but how we can afford to make it happen.

If you want real change and real hope in the NHS there is one party that is offering to make that a reality"

Adblock test \(Why?\)