

The local elections – a media roundup

Our performance in last night's local elections defied even our most optimistic expectations. We made a net gain of 12 councils and over 700 councillors – and the press noticed. We were pride of place on the Guardian's homepage:

What a night!

There's nothing better than waking up to "Lib Dem GAIN" after a night of elections. And there's been a long, long list of those after last night. We're absolutely delighted – congratulations to all our hardworking activists!

We're winning!

Good morning – and make no mistake – this is a very good morning for the Liberal Democrats.

We've held every council we're defending so far!
