

Foreign student review must allow reason to triumph over prejudice

New figures released today show the number of overseas students overstaying their visas has turned out to be vastly exaggerated.

Amber Rudd has responded by announcing a review into the impact of foreign students on the UK – but, frankly, that's the wrong response.

It's time for the government to drop overseas students from official immigration figures.

Go to Source

Author:

Amber Rudd must apologise for EU deportation letters

Amber Rudd should apologise to up to 100 EU nationals who were mistakenly sent official letters threatening them with deportation.

Go to Source

Author:

May's ECJ comments are a desperate attempt to avoid backbench rebellion

Theresa May's attempts to downplay the government's climbdown over the European Court of Justice is a desperate attempt to hold together the Conservative Party and ward off a eurosceptic rebellion.

Go to Source

Author:

Failure to electrify rail routes is a betrayal of the North

Writing in the Yorkshire Post, Chris Grayling said: “the success of Northern transport depends on the North itself.”

It comes after the government dropped pledges to electrify rail routes in Wales, the Midlands and the North, while supporting the £30 billion Crossrail 2 scheme for London.

Go to Source

Author:

How many other reports like this are Conservative Ministers hiding from the British public?

An unpublished Home Office report showed that Britons could be more at risk of terrorism and crime after Brexit, The Times reports.

Go to Source

Author: