

Brexit bill attempts to take away people's rights through back door

This morning, the Times newspaper alleges that the Government is drawing up plans to scrap people's right to sue the government for breaking the law.

Currently, under EU law citizens have the right to sue member states for damages if their rights were infringed by the failure of a country to implement EU law.

Go to Source

Author:

Modern slavery in the UK is a national scandal.

This shocking report shows that modern slavery is alive and well in 21st century Britain.

Go to Source

Author:

4 million people left waiting for surgery in 'pain and discomfort'

The number of people waiting for routine surgery in England topped 4 million in June, the highest level for a decade, figures from NHS England have shown.

Go to Source

Author:

Soaring trade deficit shows Brexit export boom has failed to materialise

The UK's monthly trade deficit soared by £2bn in June, driven by a 3.5% slump in exports, figures from the Office of National Statistics have revealed.

Go to Source

Author:

The Government has paid out 0.1% of the business rates relief budget

Only around £197k of the government's £300m business rates relief fund has actually been allocated, despite businesses being hit with higher rates over four months ago.

Go to Source

Author: