

Liam Fox should stop flip-flopping and take off rose-tinted glasses

Today, Liam Fox's Department for International Trade has released figures claiming to show that sunglasses, swimwear and ice-cream are all big exports – and that means Brexit is going to be a success.

Go to Source

Author:

We rely on encryption to keep us safe. We must protect it.

I'm not personally one of those who thinks we should weaken encryption because I think there is a parallel issue, which is cybersecurity more broadly.

Jonathan Evans, former Head of MI5

That was the former Chief of MI5 Jonathan Evans, speaking to BBC Radio 4's Today programme and stating that he would not support a clampdown on the use of encryption.

Go to Source

Author:

We are the home for all those who are unhappy with Brexit

Reports have claimed that that two cabinet ministers have expressed an interest in forming a new anti-Brexit party.

Go to Source

Author:

Brexit bill attempts to take away people's rights through back door

This morning, the Times newspaper alleges that the Government is drawing up plans to scrap people's right to sue the government for breaking the law.

Currently, under EU law citizens have the right to sue member states for damages if their rights were infringed by the failure of a country to implement EU law.

Go to Source

Author:

Modern slavery in the UK is a national scandal.

This shocking report shows that modern slavery is alive and well in 21st century Britain.

Go to Source

Author: