Greens respond to Reform's £9 million donation

4 December 2025 by Green Party

Responding to news that Reform has received a £9 million donation from a single donor, Green Party leader Zack Polanski said:

"Reform hoovering up vast sums of private donations isn't a sign of political strength, but a sign of a weakness in the foundations of our democracy. When a single party can be bankrolled by a handful of wealthy individuals, it drowns out the voices of ordinary people and tilts the entire system towards the interests of those elites.

"This is exactly why we need a cap on political donations. Democracy should never be for sale. Every party should compete on ideas, not on the size of their donor spreadsheet.

"While Reform pockets eye-watering cheques, Greens are building a movement powered and funded by people through thousands of new members.

"When we win elections, it will be because of the tens of thousands of people volunteered, not the people who donated tens of thousands. If we want a politics that serves the public, not billionaire backers, then capping donations is essential. Let's end the influence of big money and put democracy back where it belongs: in the hands of voters."
