UKAEA welcomes Government announcement on Culham campus

On Wednesday, the Government confirmed its backing for a project to develop new fusion facilities, infrastructure and apprenticeships at UKAEA's Culham site.

It was included in a series of measures announced by Business & Energy Secretary Andrea Leadsom to support UK researchers and businesses.

Professor Ian Chapman, CEO of UKEA, commented: "We are delighted with recent Government investments in UKAEA and fusion research, notably in designing the UK's own fusion powerplant — STEP — and a major upgrade to the Culham campus."
