

UKHSA launches development programme for wastewater monitoring techniques which could catch pandemic threats early

New UKHSA £1.3m programme will evaluate how wastewater monitoring could be used to detect a wider range of dangerous pathogens.