

UK's first citizen-led study on childhood lead exposure begins

Pioneering research launches in Leeds to test new approach to assessing the risk to children from hidden lead exposure