

Press Releases: Slovenia Statehood Day

Press Statement
Rex W. Tillerson

Secretary of State

Washington, DC
June 23, 2017

On behalf of the Government of the United States of America, congratulations to the people of Slovenia on the 26th anniversary of your independence.

The relationship between the United States and Slovenia is based on shared values and interests, from our enduring commitment to global security to our economic partnership. Slovenia has been a steadfast ally in the fight against violent extremism, including in Afghanistan and Iraq, and an active advocate for securing stability in the Western Balkans.

As we mark the 25th anniversary of our diplomatic relations with Slovenia, the United States looks forward to continued cooperation and friendship with Slovenia.

The Office of Website Management, Bureau of Public Affairs, manages this site as a portal for information from the U.S. State Department. External links to other Internet sites should not be construed as an endorsement of the views or privacy policies contained therein.

Press Releases: Recent Attacks in Pakistan

Press Statement
Heather Nauert

Department Spokesperson

Washington, DC
June 23, 2017

The United States condemns the attacks in Quetta and Parachinar, which killed innocent civilians and police officers.

We offer our deepest condolences to the victims and their families. We will continue to work with the Government of Pakistan and our partners across the region to combat the threat of terrorism. We stand with the people of Pakistan and the broader South Asia region in their fight against terrorism.

The Office of Website Management, Bureau of Public Affairs, manages this site as a portal for information from the U.S. State Department. External links to other Internet sites should not be construed as an endorsement of the views or privacy policies contained therein.

Press Releases: Mozambique National Day

Press Statement
Rex W. Tillerson

Secretary of State

Washington, DC
June 23, 2017

On behalf of the Government of the United States of America, congratulations to the people of Mozambique on 42 years of independence. On this occasion, we also celebrate the history of friendship and partnership between our two countries. As part of that growing relationship, I was pleased to be able to meet with President Nyusi just two weeks ago during his visit to Washington. This meeting was a reflection of our partnership with the people of Mozambique on wide-ranging issues including global health, good governance, education, agriculture and business.

It is commendable that the Government of Mozambique and opposition forces have agreed on an indefinite cessation of hostilities, and we are proud that the U.S. Ambassador was asked to co-chair the Contact Group for the peace talks. The people of Mozambique deserve a lasting peace. On this special day, best wishes for peace and future prosperity for the citizens of Mozambique in the coming year.

The Office of Website Management, Bureau of Public Affairs, manages this site as a portal for information from the U.S. State Department. External links to other Internet sites should not be construed as an endorsement of the views or privacy policies contained therein.

Press Releases: On the Occasion of National Day in Luxembourg

Press Statement
Rex W. Tillerson

Secretary of State

Washington, DC
June 22, 2017

On behalf of the Government of the United States of America, congratulations to the people of Luxembourg as you celebrate your National Day on June 23.

For more than half a century the United States and Luxembourg have shared a strong friendship and staunch alliance. Our shared history, common values, and economic ties will ensure we remain close partners as we work together to strengthen NATO, defeat ISIS, and foster greater prosperity for both sides of the Atlantic.

America is committed to the friendship between our countries, and I look forward to strengthening our longstanding partnership.

The Office of Website Management, Bureau of Public Affairs, manages this site as a portal for information from the U.S. State Department. External links to other Internet sites should not be construed as an endorsement of the views or privacy policies contained therein.

Press Releases: Coordinator for Cyber Issues and U.S. Coordinator for International Communications and Information Policy To Participate in the U.S.-Kenya Cyber and Digital Economy Dialogue

Media Note
Office of the Spokesperson

Washington, DC
June 22, 2017

Christopher Painter, the Secretary's Coordinator for Cyber Issues, and Julie Zoller, Acting U.S. Coordinator for International Communications and Information Policy, will travel to Nairobi, Kenya from June 22-23 to discuss cyber and digital economy policy issues with government officials, the private sector, and civil society as part of the U.S.-Kenya Cyber and Digital Economy Dialogue.

During their visit to Nairobi, Coordinators Painter and Zoller will engage with senior Kenyan leaders to discuss policies related to cybersecurity, cybercrime, and legal cooperation as well as digital economy regulatory and commercial policies, cooperation at the International Telecommunication Union, and other cyber and internet policy issues.

To learn more about this trip or other cyber policy efforts at the Department of State, please follow us on Twitter @State_Cyber and @StateCIP.

To learn more about the Department of State's efforts in economic matters, including communications and information policy issues, follow us on Twitter @EconatState or at the EconAtState Facebook page.

The Office of Website Management, Bureau of Public Affairs, manages this site as a portal for information from the U.S. State Department. External links to other Internet sites should not be construed as an endorsement of the views or privacy policies contained therein.