

Unknown Lanarkshire soldier of World War Two named following new research

A Scottish soldier killed in Sicily during World War 2 has finally been identified and given a named grave, 83 years after he died in battle. The previously unknown soldier's grave has been identified as that of Corporal (C...