

‘Unknown’ soldier’s grave identified 107 years after his death

The final resting place of a Devonian man who served with the King’s (Liverpool Regiment) in World War 1 has been named in France almost exactly 107 years after his death.