

Using new guidance powers to help parties navigate pricing vital defence contracts

The Single Source Regulations Office (SSRO) is using its new power to issue guidance: focusing on helping contracting parties better navigate the final price adjustment, which protects from excess profits and losses.