

Victims and survivors of terrorism to be given greater support

The government will set up a dedicated support hub to meet the needs of those affected by terrorism as well as consulting on a new national day.