

Water and sewerage company performance on pollution hits new low

Latest annual Environmental Performance Assessment shows environmental performance of England's nine water and sewerage companies has declined.