

Water investment to cut sewage in North East

Residents across the North East of England are benefiting from investment to reduce sewage spills and clean up the environment.