

welters continue to grow throughout 2018

welters® have achieved continuous growth throughout 2018 with numerous major projects in progress taking them well into 2019. The company also maintains its development programmes with new and innovative products being prepared for market launch, as well as continued improvements to existing component designs and service deliveries. A recent internal review of welters® contribution to the Industry over the past 3 decades has brought to light some fascinating documents which the company will be endeavouring to make public in due course. This includes the introduction and prolific establishment of burial chamber and memorial housings and modular cell constructed mausolea facilities across the UK. These facilities are now a common service provision and no longer thought of as novel and are a testament to the hard work and visionary creativity of Keith Welters and his dedicated support staff.
