

West and East Midlands move into drought

Following the driest spring in 132 years, Environment Agency steps up operational response.