

West Country water lovers urged to lend a hand to bathing waters

Communities who campaigned to turn their favourite spots into official bathing waters asked to help the Environment Agency make them cleaner to swim in.