

Whooping cough vaccination rates recover among pregnant women

As uptake rates improve for the seventh month, more newborns are protected from whooping cough.